Fingal County Council

PRESS RELEASE

February 21, 2018

Fingal County Council launches new ezine Fingal News

Fingal County Council today launched a new ezine, titled Fingal News. The first edition of Fingal News is now available to download from www.fingal.ie and will be available online to Fingal residents each month. Fingal News, which is available in both Irish and English, will keep residents informed as to what the Council is doing for them and the actions being taken on their behalf.

A REDC survey undertaken last Autumn showed that 53% of residents surveyed expressed interest in receiving a regular electronic newsletter on Fingal County Council activities. This new e-zine replaces a printed eight page hard-backed newsletter which had been produced previously but was discontinued in 2013. Fingal News will be published monthly unlike the previous version which was issued quarterly.

Welcoming the launch of Fingal News, the Chief Executive of Fingal County Council, Paul Reid, said that Fingal News would provide a valuable insight to residents as to what the Council is doing to help to make Fingal a good place in which to live, work, visit and do business.
“Creating awareness of what Fingal County Council is doing on behalf of its citizens and businesses is a key element of our communications strategy so I am delighted we will be doing that each month through Fingal News and outlining how your Council is working for you,” said Mr Reid.

The Mayor of Fingal, Cllr Mary McCamley, said: “Fingal News offers the residents of Fingal a link to their Council and shows the progress being made to deliver services to residents and the key issues in their area as well as events and news from the community.”

ENDS

For further information contact press@fingal.ie

Phot caption: Mayor of Fingal Cllr Mary McCamley, Fingal County Council’s Director of Corporate Affairs and Governance John Quinlivan with Fingal County Council’s Chief Executive Paul Reid in the Atrium, County Hall, Swords.