Commemorations Programme 2018-2023

Fingal County Council is developing a Commemorations Programme for the period 2018-2023, when there will be many aspects of our past which need to be remembered and commemorated. The Council commenced a consultation process on December 12, 2017 to enable the people of Fingal to have their say on what we should remember and commemorate. The public consultation process runs until Wednesday, January 24..

While many events and/or persons related to the struggle for independence in the period 1918-1923 will be commemorated during the period 2018-2023, the Council also wishes to consider other significant events, persons or themes of relevance to Fingal and its communities which should be commemorated. This includes an exploration of the broader social and historical context of the period 1918-1923 which witnessed significant transformation at local, national and international levels.

For example, the end of the Great War in 1918 led to independence not just for Ireland, but for many other countries across Europe. The Council encourages ideas and suggestions for commemoration from outside the Irish experience reflecting the fact that Fingal is one of the most diverse counties in Ireland with residents from many different countries.

The Bremore Castle Big Dig 2017

The Bremore Castle Big Dig 2017 has been successfully shortlisted as a finalist of the Best Heritage Project/Initiative category of the All Ireland Community & Council Awards 2018. Over a hundred members of the community, from 18 to 90 year olds, took part in the community excavation in the grounds of Bremore Castle during the summer, adding to our knowledge of this 16th Century fortified house and its environs.

Fingal Age Friendly Cities & Counties Initiative

The National Age Friendly Recognition and Achievement Awards will be held on April 10. This is the third annual awards event for the Age Friendly Ireland Programme. The primary aim of these awards is to recognise and reward achievement in age friendly initiatives around Ireland. Organisations, individuals, agencies and communities are requested to submit applications on projects or programmes that they consider to be age friendly. This year, eight categories of awards, aligning to the World Health Organisation (WHO) themes, have been chosen as they have a meaningful impact on the lives of older people, planning and creating a sustainable Ireland for all.

The award categories are: (WHO theme)

1. Age Friendly Transport (Transportation)

Getting to where you want to go when you want to go is so important to so many older people. This category recognises the vital difference that access to good quality and reliable transport options can make to an older person.

2. Age Friendly Active and Healthy Ageing (Community Support and Health Services)

We are living for longer, but remaining healthy and active in later years can be a real challenge. This award recognises those initiatives that optimise opportunities for good health in later years, so that older people can continue to play an active role in community life.

3. Age Friendly Business Innovation (Civic Participation and Employment)

We know that creating an enjoyable and accessible environment for older consumers pays dividends for businesses and the wider community. This category acknowledges age aware businesses who recognise that older people are both producers and consumers and bring a wealth of experience and expertise to our society.

4. Age Friendly Safety and Security (Housing)

Feeling safe and secure at home and when out and about greatly enhances the lives of older people. This category acknowledges the impact of community based responses that enable older people to feel secure in their homes and in the wider community, and to know what to do when they don't.

5. Age Friendly Communication (Communication and Information)

A lack of access to information is often cited as a barrier to 'ageing well' in Ireland. The ability to access clear and concise information can impact on a range of aspects of an older person's life, from health and wellbeing to social connectedness to financial security. This award recognises efforts being made around the country to bridge the information gap.

6. Age Friendly Environment (Outdoor Spaces and Buildings)

The built environment has a unique impact on the lives of all older people. Simple things like adequate public seating, level footpaths and appropriate crossing times at pedestrian crossings all have a huge impact on the ability of older people to be active in their towns and villages. This category recognises projects that bring about change in the built physical environment with older people in mind.

7. Age Friendly Community Innovation (Social Participation, Respect and Social Inclusion)

The voice of the older person is at the heart of the Age Friendly Cities and Counties Programme, the Programme is designed and implemented with them and not for them. This award recognises those innovative projects that are driven by older people for older people. These projects not only enhance the lives of older people, but benefit the community at large.

8. Age Friendly Housing (Housing)

As people age they spend more time in their own homes. This means that older people's quality of life, and thus their health, can depend on the appropriateness of their home environment and the conditions in which they live. This award recognises innovative housing initiatives that enable older people to remain independent for as long as possible.

For an application form and return of entries please contact the Fingal Age Friendly Cities & Counties Programme Coordinator eithne.mallin@fingal.ie. The closing date for applications is 1pm on Wednesday, January 31, 2018

The first-ever Creative Ireland Forum took place in Dublin Castle on December 13. Bringing together a comprehensive programme of contributors including An Taoiseach Leo Varadkar, Minister for Culture, Heritage and the Gaeltacht Josepha Madigan, EU Commissioner Tibor Navracsics, Cartoon Saloon co-founder and Oscar-nominee Paul Young and Cork-based designer Joseph Walsh, the aim of the conference was to illustrate the importance of an all-of-government approach to Ireland's creativity and wellbeing.

The conference focussed on three broad policy areas: the critical importance of a cultural and creative education; the role of culture in health and wellbeing; and the connections between the arts, culture and the creative industries.

The conference was officially opened by Minister Madigan and featured a keynote address by An Taoiseach Leo Varadkar T.D., who outlined the importance of an integrated approach to the Creative Ireland Programme in ensuring lifelong creativity for all Irish citizens.

New Creative Youth Plan Launched

The new 'Creative Youth Plan' was launched on December 7, by An Taoiseach. The Plan sets out measures to deliver on one of the key goals of the extensive Creative Ireland Programme, to ensure that every child in Ireland has practical access to tuition, experience and participation in music, drama, art and coding by 2022. At this plan's core is that creativity and culture should be at the heart of education for all our young people. While there is a very broad range of cultural activities currently available to children and young people, the plan aims to build on what already exists as well as simultaneously develop new projects and initiatives.

The plan also aims to introduce increased opportunities for students to learn coding and computational thinking; to expand opportunities to participate in drama/theatre outside of school and to introduce a strategy that develops and extends choral singing.

Last year's hugely popular Cruinniú na Cásca will be redesigned and developed as Cruinniú - a national creativity day for children and young people in consultation with the Local Authorities.

ARTS OFFICE

Youth Engagement - Swords Cultural Quarter

Officials from the Arts, Libraries and Architects Departments are collaborating with an external facilitator to create a dynamic and creative workshop exploring arts, culture and creativity for young people in Swords. The aim of the workshop is for Fingal County Council to meet with a diverse group of young people from across Swords to ask them what kind of cultural space and opportunities they would like in their neighbourhood in the coming years.

An invitation will issue to post-primary school students to engage in this dialogue with a view to delivering the workshops towards the end of February. The sessions will be facilitated by Anna Galligan, an arts practitioner with thirty years' experience working with young people. Students' participation, thoughts and ideas will be captured using post-its, vox pops, and other written, aural and visual media. A report of all the data gathered will be produced for the Swords Cultural Quarter working team.

Schools Competition

The Environment Awareness section invited all schools in Fingal to enter a 'Green' Christmas competition. The competition asked pupils to create an environmental message about reducing waste and preventing litter at Christmas. The competition was received positively. A total of eighteen prizes were distributed to schools throughout the County.

Environmental Assessments – Green Schools

Schools seeking to obtain or retain a Green Flag in 2018 will apply to the Environment Department for an assessment visit in the coming months. The assessment involves a review of environmental progress in the school and provides an opportunity to offer guidance on best practice in schools.

Household Recycling Waste

The DCCAE has published an industry-agreed list of materials which can be placed in the household green bin. This list which can be viewed on www.recyclinglistireland.ie was developed in response to the need to improve the quality of the recycle and reduce the incidences of rejections at destination facilities.

China and India are major buyers of recyclable material from Europe and USA and have traditionally reused these recycled materials to reduce the extraction of raw materials, but have in recent times insisted on higher standards and are no longer purchasing mixed materials such as plastics, paper or cardboard baled together. In Ireland, this has emphasised the need for better segregation of materials and for uncontaminated streams, particularly paper.

Packaging Regulations

EMWERLA (Eastern – Midlands Waste Enforcement Regional Lead Authority) requested Fingal County Council to pilot the new Packaging Portal from January 2018. This Portal will be used as an information interface between the Department, the Council and Repak.

Local Authority Environmental Performance Assessment Report 2014-2016

The EPA in December 2017 published its annual assessment and three - year cycle report for environmental performance in the above period. Fingal achieved an 'Above Target' overall grade for 2016 in accordance with the Agency's Performance Framework baselines – based on 26 environmental performance indicators and Enforcement Area Weightings, indicating “generally very good performance, with particular areas of strength”.

For more details please refer to the following link: <http://www.epa.ie/enforcement/pa/performanceframework/>

Balleally Landfill Surface Water Project

Tender documents for construction were published on e-tenders issued in December 2017. This project will involve road realignment and drainage works designed to eliminate severe flooding at the entrance, replace surface water and leachate mains and will also involve relocation of facility buildings within the landfill site.

Flooding at Balleally Landfill entrance – November

A brief is being prepared for the engagement of consultants to prepare a detailed master plan for the newly named Rogerstown Park which will be the subject of further public consultation during 2018.

New National Inspection Plan for Domestic Waste Water Treatment Systems

The Environmental Protection Agency has published the third National Inspection Plan for the period 2018 to 2021: Domestic Waste Water Treatment Systems Draft for Consultation <http://www.epa.ie/pubs/consultation/> The closing date for comments is 5pm on Friday 26th January 2018.

The Water Services (Amendment) Act 2012 requires the EPA to prepare a national inspection plan for domestic waste water treatment systems (commonly known as septic tanks).

The aim of the plan is to protect human health and water quality from the risks posed by domestic waste water treatment systems. There are two primary roles within the plan:

- (1) Inspection System – Fingal County Council inspectors are required to undertake the inspection of domestic waste water treatment systems each year. The inspector can issue an advisory notice to the home owner if their domestic waste water system fails the inspection. The home owner must then undertake the required remedial work within the time specified on the advisory notice.
- (2) Engagement Activities – The Water Pollution Control team in FCC provides information and advice to home owners on how they can protect their health and that of their family, neighbours and environment from the risks posed by domestic waste water treatment systems.

Air Quality

A total of 125 solid fuel inspections were carried out in 2017 in accordance with the Air Pollution Act (Marketing, Sale, Distribution and Burning of Specified Fuels) Regulations 2012.

Litter Management

A total of 110 Litter Fines and 14 Warning Notices were issued in December.

Dog Warden Service

A total of 1181 Dog Licences were issued in November and December.

WATER SERVICES

Operations

Service Level Agreement with Irish Water to conclude

Irish Water has confirmed its intention not to renew the Service Level Agreements (SLA) with local authorities in 2025. They have also indicated that they wish to negotiate an earlier conclusion to the SLA which would achieve the single utility model by 2021.

Capital Projects

The Council and Irish Water (IW) have reviewed the structures for the delivery of IW Capital Projects. IW now take direct responsibility for the day-to-day management of a number of the projects.

The following Capital Projects are being managed directly by IW:

- Rush Waste Water Collection Network Upgrade
- Rush Rd. Pumping Station Skerries
- 9C Duplication
- Liffey Siphons
- Malahide & Swords Drainage Area Plans
- Swords 30" Watermain Rehabilitation.

The following Capital Projects are being managed by Fingal Water Services Project Office on behalf of IW:

Balbriggan Water Supply Scheme – Jordanstown to Kilsough Trunk Main

Consultants Nicholas O'Dwyer Ltd. are completing the contract documents and specimen design drawings.

It is hoped that the main contract works will go to construction in Q3/4, 2018.

Howth Water Supply Scheme

Consultants Nicholas O'Dwyer Ltd. are completing the contract documents and specimen design drawings.

It is hoped that the main contract works will go to construction in Q3/4, 2018. The CPO Confirmation Order has been published.

Negotiations are on-going with St Nessian's Community School in Baldoyle in order to procure a wayleave by agreement to facilitate a revision to the pipeline route.

Ballycoolen Trunk Main Scheme

Consultants Nicholas O'Dwyer Ltd. have revised the route of the proposed main to take account of development constraints including the Local Area Plan (LAP) for Dublin Airport and to minimise crossover impact on the existing main.

The Site Investigation Contract commenced on September 25, 2017. However, all the land entry consents have not yet been confirmed and the works are approximately 70% complete to date.

The CPO process to procure pipeline wayleaves will commence in Q2, 2018. The main contract works are planned to go to construction Q1/Q2, 2019.

Malahide Water Supply Scheme

IW has been granted planning permission for the proposed reservoir and associated access road.

FCC has agreed to grant IW a pipeline wayleave in public space at The Bawn, to facilitate the pipeline route.

Site Investigation works are due to commence on site Q1, 2018.

Swords Outfall

IW appointed KN Network Services as the contractor for the project and work commenced on site on August 24, 2017. This project is now complete (with the exception of some landscaping) and the new section of upgraded outfall pipework is operational.

Local Networks Reinforcement Project (LNRP)

Consultant Mott McDonald was appointed to commence the scheme in March 2016. The LNRP in Fingal involves the construction of two new pumping stations, one in Kinsealy and one in Portmarnock, with associated rising mains and gravity sewers for both projects.

A proposed route has been chosen for these pipelines and site investigation has been completed along the two routes. The planning application for Kinsealy Pumping station was submitted to FCC in Q4, 2017 and Portmarnock Pumping station is now due to be submitted to FCC in Q1, 2018.

The detailed design for both projects is progressing and IW is currently reviewing the procurement options for the two schemes.

It is anticipated both projects will be completed by Q3, 2019.

Leixlip Transfer Pipeline

This project consists of a new section of rising main and gravity sewer from West Leixlip to a new pumping station in Leixlip Wastewater Treatment Plant. Twin rising mains will be constructed from this new pumping station to connect to the 9C sewer in Parslickstown. The pipeline will run through Fingal County Council owned lands in Littlepace.

Both intrusive site investigation and non-invasive survey work are complete and the final pipeline route has been identified. The process of acquisition of the wayleaves required to construct the pipelines from landowners in Kildare, Meath and Fingal is underway.

The Consulting Engineers (Jacob Tobin) are currently finalising Tender Documents for this scheme. The planning applications for both the pumping station (at Leixlip WWTP) and a new Pedestrian Bridge over the River Rye in Leixlip (that will accommodate the rising main) are due to be submitted to Kildare County Council in Q1, 2018.

It is envisaged that construction will commence in Q1, 2019.

Balbriggan Skerries Network Improvement Scheme – Loughshinny Contract

This project involves the decommissioning of the septic tank in Loughshinny which is both hydraulically and biologically overloaded. The septic tank will be replaced with a pumping station rising main arrangement to connect to the Skerries network. The sea outfall will be retained to act as an emergency overflow.

There is Part 8 planning in place for a proposed pumping station in Loughshinny. This project will stop the discharge of untreated sewage to sea and facilitate development in Loughshinny. A specimen design and the final tender documents for the project are now complete.

IW has formally applied for a CPO for a section of Loughshinny Car Park after engaging with Council Traffic and Roads Maintenance Depts. in relation to the maximum number of car parking spaces that can be retained during the construction period. CPO documentation is currently on public display in Irish Water's office in Colvill House, Talbot Street, Dublin and a copy of same is also in Skerries Library, Strand Street, Skerries.

It is envisaged that construction will commence in Q3, 2018.
